Simple Assembly Required:

1. Take the short string, fold it in half and tie a knot about an inch away from the looped end.
2. Take the loose ends of the short string and attach one through hole A, and the other end through hole B, as shown above in Figure 1.
3. Attach the kite holder to the loop in the short piece of string. As shown above in Figure 1.
4. Turn the kite over. Take the long plastic pole and slide the connector piece to the center of the pole. Then insert the ends of the long plastic pole into the blue connectors at the top and bottom of the kite.
5. Take the ends of the short string and tie them around the long pole to secure them in place.
6. Slide the connector piece up to hole A. Take one of the short plastic rods and insert it into the connector piece, and to a blue connector on the right side of the kite. Repeat for the left side, as shown above in Figure 2. The kite should have a slight bend to it.
7. Attach the kite tail through hole C and tie a knot to secure.
